Car and Run it Across Burning Trestle

(By Associated Press.)
Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 29.—Three youthful bandits, less than twenty-five years old, held up the south-bound Katy train near Eufaula. They compelled the engineer to detach the express and baggage car and run them ahead a half mile and then blasted the safe. Railroad officials here believe the youthful robbers got several thousand dollars. A burning trestle stopped the train. The train crew were lined up beside the train by one of the robbers while the two others uncoupled the baggage and express cars. They forced the trainmen to run the engine and two cars across the burning trestle. The burning structure fell into the water less than a minute after the cars had passed over. The bandits then dynamited the safe and fled with the booty into the woods. Poses were formed and sent from Crowder, Eufaula, McAlester and Muskogee.

It was one of the most daring and successfully executed robberies ever attempted in this state.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 29.—Pursuers found an outer wrapper of one of the packages which contained thirty-five hundred dollars, consigned by the Southwestern National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City, to the National Bank of Greenville, Texas.

Pauls Valley, Okla., Oct. 29.—Even bets that Guthrie will win the capital have been placed here.

PAVING WRIT IS GRANTED

SUPREME COURT GRANTS
ORDER PREVENTING SALE OF PAVING PROPERTY

Special to the Daily Leader.
Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 29.—Milton Brown, for the paving tax association, and D. M. Tibbets, for the paving contractor and county treasurer, appeared before the Supreme Court this morning and argued for and against an application to advance the case in the supreme court, and a writ of prohibition against selling any of the property for paving tax until the final determination of the present litigation. The court sustained the application, advanced the case to the December sitting, and granted a writ of prohibition against the county treasurer from selling any of the property until the final determination of the litigation. The court also ordered the plaintiffs to give an additional supersedeas bond in the sum of $1,000.

STRIP GIRL; APPLY TAR TO BODY

SEVEN OHIO BRUTES AR-RESTED CHARGED WITH OUTRAGE

Norwalk, Ohio, Oct. 29.—Seven men were arrested today at West Clarkfield on indictments charging them with riotous conspiracy in connection with the recent tarring or painting of Minnie LaValley, a young woman of that village.

Reginald Thomas, constable, was among those charged with the attack on the girl. Others arrested for alleged participation were Joseph Cummings, Joseph and Carl Sly and Harlow and Ernest Welch, men well known in West Clarkfield. They range in ages between 20 and 40 years. The seven arrested are to be arraigned here tomorrow.

Minnie LaValley was seized on a street of the village the night of August 20, divested of clothing and smeared with tar or paint and feathers. It was alleged at the time that women, dressed as men, had taken part in the affair. This the finding of the grand jury denied.

LESS INSULTING

(McAlester News-Capital)
"Guthrie with slush fund would buy capital," reads an Oklahoma City ad. Would it not be less insulting to the voters to say that Guthrie would try to buy it?

$10 TO $8 ON GUTHRIE.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 29.—Bets of $10 to $8 that Guthrie wins the capital were offered here last night with no takers.

YOUTH IS SCOLDED; HE KILLS

REBUKED FOR KEEPING
LATE HOURS, BOY SHOOT
UNCLE

MURDERER ESCAPES AFTER ATTACK; OFFICERS ON TRACK

Uncle of Boy, Victim of Bullets,
Dies at County Hospital Three Hours After Shooting

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 29.—Because he resented criticism of his keeping late hours, Edward Tierney, 20 years old, shot and killed his uncle, Thomas McGinnis, yesterday at the McGinnis home, 1442 South Talman avenue, where young Tierney had been living.

McGinnis had opened his home to the boy and fathered him for years. The boy always resented being scolded and developed a hatred for his uncle. A quarrel occurred Sunday night when young Tierney arrived home later than usual.

"This will have to stop," the uncle told his nephew. "You can't come to my house any more at such an hour as this."

Yesterday morning Tierney left the house early. He purchased a revolver and returned at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Without warning he began shooting when he met his uncle.

Three bullets took effect. McGinnis died at the county hospital three hours afterward.

The murderer escaped. Police are searching for him. It is believed that he has fled the city.

Squeeze Play to Retain Enormous Rent Roll

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 29.—"Guthrie has the capital fight won. If the contest were one involving a matter of Guthrie getting more votes than Oklahoma City the Guthrie committee would have nothing to do. But Guthrie must get a majority of all votes cast—and she will get them." Thus spoke Hon. W. A. Durant, speaker of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature, who was here last night.

"If anyone thinks that the bald dash of the Oklahoman is cutting any figure he is sadly mistaken," continued Durant. "The awful squawk about the capital grounds at Guthrie being owned by the state and subsequently the government, merely causes smiles. Outside of two muddy acts Bryan county will give a 5 per cent 'yes' vote. The matter is discussed in every county and district Democratic headquarters on the East Side and all without exception are for Guthrie. Oklahoma City's despicable actions during the past two years have aroused the people."

A solemn, binding contract was made with the legislature by Oklahoma City and a $100,000 bond was exacted. Oklahoma City, however, never even put up this bond. All this in addition to the representations of 1910 which were never fulfilled is telling hard against Oklahoma City. The people in the East and Southeastern part of the state at least regard Oklahoma City's fight as one to retain a big rent roll at the state's expense without giving any return.

Sample Letter Sent Out By Blowtown

Following is a sample of the letters now being mailed out with a bunch of literature from the Oklahoma City capital committee:

W. L. Alexander, General Manager, George M. Ellick, Secretary, Citizens' Capital Campaign Committee, Frank J. Wykoff, Chairman, Dear Sir:—We notice that you are a Republican Precinct Committeeman in your county, and knowing as we do that such are usually those men who take an interest in "public questions," we beg to ask you to carefully read the enclosed literature and we believe that if you are not already against the removal of the capital back to Guthrie, that you will be when you have given consideration to the real facts in the case. The map enclosed is a correct one and every statement in the literature is true. The capital would have been under construction but for Guthrie's continual litigation. It began before the polls closed, June 11, 1910, and kept it in court until November 13, 1911, and as soon as dismissed, Oklahoma City played $100,000 in money and 650 acres of land in the hands of the governor. Their Guthrie immediately brought out this initiative petition in order to stop and hinder the State of Oklahoma and Oklahoma City from proceeding with the erection of the capital building. We will appreciate anything that may do toward making the voters of your precinct acquainted with the real facts about the question. Assuring you that we will be under obligations for any information or suggestion that you may give this committee, I am, yours truly, George M. Ellick, Secretary.

Life Story of "Jack" Love

By Edward F. McKay

It is a far cry from hewer of railroad ties to censor of railroad policies. The man who at twenty-one never had ridden upon a train and at fifty is signing orders involving not only the operation of railroads but of public utilities of every sort has made a record such as American fathers and mothers are wont to call to the attention of the rising generation.

It is such careers that make our political game fascinating, for usually it is when the spotlight of public attention is directed to the holder of a high political office that the same are revealed. The one-time section hand sometime cow-puncher on the plains of Texas and long-time rancher in a newer state here referred to is now the chairman of one of the most progressive and aggressive bodies in this day of progressive institutions, the corporation commission of Oklahoma.

Three Times Endorsed During Term.
If it seemed likely that Colonel "Jack" Love had reached the zenith of his career it might not be interesting to look now to the obstacles that he has piled out of his pathway and the methods used in their displacement. But a man who has been three times endorsed at the polls during his term by the people who called him to office, elects elections on proposed constitutional amendments, who has been renominated without opposition, and of whom an opposing political writer recently said: "If he is not the next governor it will be because he does not want the job" is worthy of a glance even from beyond the bounds of his own state.

The Oklahoma chairman is a physical embodiment of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, with special stress upon the last mentioned weapon of modern warfare as applied to the judiciary and with particular reference to the federal bench there of. He stands six feet, five and a half inches tall, weighs two hundred eighty pounds and every ounce. Pronouncements from the bench over which this official, big both by stature and statute, presides, are uttered with volume proportionate to the physical and official power back of them.

"What you are willing to do does not interest us," he thunders as the suave and supposedly diplomatic corporation lawyer who would compromise a dangerous issue. "We don't ask you to do anything that we can not force you to do. What we want to know is what rights the people have, and we may as well find out now."

Always A Man of Nerve

Many attorneys and corporation officials consider Chairman Love a radical of the radicals. But they are the ones who know him least. He is not blown by gentle zephyrs nor by fierce gales. He was a Democrat when that party was too conservative to win, and has the record of having gone down to defeat rather than ride a Populist wave to victory. Rated for personal honor his bitter enemy cannot deny to be a victor.

That he has nerve is indicated by a Republican report of a Democratic territorial convention held in Oklahoma City in 1896, when said:

"Knives, revolvers and chairs were drawn and fists flew through the air. If it had not been for the fearlessness of Jack Love, sergeant-at-arms, the row would have been a bloody one."

The Oklahoma corporation commission has certain powers of all the co-ordinate branches of the Republican form of government. Three times since the adoption of the constitution conferring these powers the interstate railroad systems operating in Oklahoma have sought to secure modification thereof by amendment. Each time, however, Chairman Love has hurled his mighty personality into the arena with all the resources at his command. Roosevelt, approving the Oklahoma constitution as president, said that his personal opinion thereof would not look well in print. Taft campaigned against its adoption and after becoming president referred to Oklahoma as "A Zoological garden of cranks." But each time that the document has been assailed Chairman Love has let the "woolies" in the forks of the creeks know that he considered it the best charter of popular rights ever penned, and the constitution stands today as it was adopted in 1907.

Texan By Birth and Inheritance

A Texan by birth and inheritance, Chairman Love has found it easy to accept and apply in Oklahoma many precedents established by the parent state, and one hundred and twenty thousand former Texans in Oklahoma are back of him in every such act.

Both his grandfathers went in 1824 to what is now the Lone Star state. His paternal grandfather was the first judge of Nacogdoches county, an appointee of the Mexican government. In the war for Texan independence Judge Love was a close friend and associate of General Sam Houston, and the intimate friendship between the two families has continued to the present day.

Being but three years of age when his father died "Jack" Love was denied educational advantages during boyhood. Until he had passed the age when most boys of today think they should leave classic halls and go forth to meet the world he found life too strenuous a proposition to permit of extensive schooling. He met the world first and went to school afterwards. Until he was sixteen he knew only the farm and his hard work. Then he got acquainted with

NO USE TO EXPECT OK- LAHOMA CITY TO BUILD

(From Tulsa Daily Journal, Oct. 28.)

The voters of Oklahoma will vote on the state capital on November 5. Every voter will have only two places to vote for, Oklahoma City and Guthrie.

For the taxpayer, it looks as though Guthrie was offering the best proposition from a financial standpoint. They offer buildings suitable for capital purposes at a nominal rental and pay all expenses in moving from Oklahoma City. This seems like a good proposition for the people of this state at the present time, Oklahoma City claims they have one hundred thousand dollars in the hands of the governor now available for capital purposes.

They may have, but we will bet three cents worth of candy there is a string to it.

There is no use for the people of this state to expect Oklahoma City to build a capital building for they have not the money and they will not be able to get it. For money is going to get tighter for several years in all of the boom towns that are burdened to death like Oklahoma City is.

They are offering tracts of land to the state, an outrageous proposition. They know the land can not be sold and so they can offer it with impunity, knowing they will be none the worse off and the state will be none the gainer.

For town lots in addition are not selling in Oklahoma City, and will not for a time to come.

NOTICE

Every member of the Woman's Chamber of Commerce is urged to be present at a special meeting Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at the City Hall. Important business to be transacted. Everyone who can please come prepared to pay dues for the coming four months.—Mrs. Sarchet, Secretary.

ACTRESS IS FOUND MURDERED

ROBBERY SUPPOSED TO BE MOTIVE FOR CRIME—
HAD $1,000

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 29.—Miss Sophia S. Singer, twenty-nine, daughter of Mrs. O. H. Singer, a Baltimore widow, was found murdered here today; her arms and legs bound and skull crushed, a chloroformed handkerchief was stuffed into her mouth and her body was wrapped in a blanket.

Body was found in a rooming house by William S. Worthen who says he was to have married her tomorrow.

Charles R. Conway, said to be a high diver, and his wife, known as Beatrice Riell, and May Monte, a variety actress, who roomed in the same apartment and who have been befriended by Worthen, are being sought in connection with the crime. The body of Miss Singer was found on a bed in the room occupied by them.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 29.—Sophia G. Singer, the girl who was murdered in Chicago, was an actress, and came of a good family. Her mother lives here. Frank O. Singer, Jr., her brother, is a prominent builder. He sent a private detective to Chicago today; he said his sister had at least a thousand dollars in her possession.

Baltimore, Oct. 29.—Miss Singer had recently inherited thirty thousand dollars from the estate of her father, the late Frank O. Singer. When she left Baltimore she had several thousand dollars worth of jewelry and

IS ALWAYS GOING TO DO; NEVER DOES

TULSA DAILY JOURNAL
SHOWS UP HYPOCRISY OF BLOWTOWN

SENSIBLE THING TO DO IS TO VOTE "Y-E-S"

Offer Made By Guthrie a Sensible Business Proposition and Will Save State Big Money

Tulsa, Oct. 29.—The two leading papers here are the World, Republican, and the Journal, Democratic. Both advocate Guthrie for the capital. A third paper, the Democrat, is conducted by Grandma Stryker, whose hand is always behind him. The Democrat is owned by Oklahoma City men. It is for Oklahoma City, although Stryker tried hard to hold up the Guthrie committee. The Journal is speaking of the capital question, says:

From this morning's Oklahoman they will tell us to vote "no" on the capital removal. We are not so sure about that. It looks to us as though Oklahoma City is trying to put one over on the state. They have had the capital located at their city a long time and nothing done, and no assurance that the state will not be charged rent for the building they are now occupying, while Guthrie offers buildings rent free, suitable for all the officials with ample room free without any strings tied to them, which seems to us more like a business proposition.

One trouble with our sister city on the north of the Canadian is they are long on wind, and are always going to do but never do.

Now, the people of this state of Oklahoma are not feeling very kindly toward Oklahoma City when they were booming town lots and catching suckers faster than they could plant town lots to sell to them—they had the highland.

Now we think the proper and sensible thing to do is to let Guthrie have the capital at the present and not try to build a state capital building until we are in a little better condition financially than we are at present.

For as sure as fate if we ever start to build in Oklahoma City now it will cost the people of this state two or three million dollars before they get through with it.

Our views are: Choke Oklahoma City away from the public crib for awhile and teach them to be decent toward the other cities of the state and put the capital where there will be the least expense for the present.

In a news item the Journal says $5 to 10 per cent of Tulsa county will vote "yes."

PIERSALL'S EFFORTS

BEARING FRUIT.

Mr. G. L. Piersall, of 208 N. Broad street, has been doing good work for Guthrie in the matter of the capital removal, and his efforts are bearing fruit. He has received the following letters that are very encouraging. The first is from J. R. Epperson, of Ryan, and reads as follows:

"Ryan, Okla., Oct. 21, 1912. Dear Comrade: I have just read your article in the Pioneer. I voted for Oklahoma City before, but I have decided to change my vote and cast it for Guthrie this time. Many others here express the same sentiment. If your article was given wide publicity it would do Guthrie much good. Yours for success, J. R. Epperson."

The second reads as follows: "Calvin, Okla., Oct. 19, 1912. Friend George: I own two lots in Oklahoma City but I am going to vote to return the capital to Guthrie. I always vote for the interest of labor whenever I can, so let us unite at the ballot box for the workers. W. H. Nelick, Calvin, Oklahoma."

John Hopkins, chairman of the county election board is in Guthrie City on business.
